

Exercise 5: I can control my pencil pressure

Description

"I can control my pencil pressure" is an exercise to help the child get used to holding the pencil with the correct form and to master applied pressure. The objective is to allow the child to work through different exercises including mandalas, colouring, etc with immediate visual feedback.

Exercise Advantages

- 4 illustration exercises : scraping, line patterns, mandalas and colouring
- Over 40 interactive illustrations
- Real time analysis depending on applied pressure
- Work on hand control with symetry exercises and colouring within the lines

Exercise 5: I can control my pencil pressure

Pencil grip animations

Different exercise modules

Scraping

The gray areas will display an image depending on the amount of applied pressure

Trace patterns

Controlled applied pressure will display in a consistent colour

Mandala

The colour tint is adjusted depending on the amount of applied pressure

Coloriage

More pressure creates a thicker stroke, less pressure creates a thinner stroke